RESIDENTIAL CARE HOME

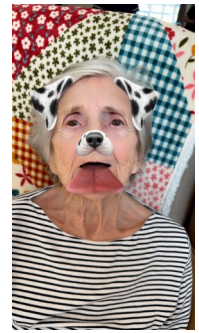

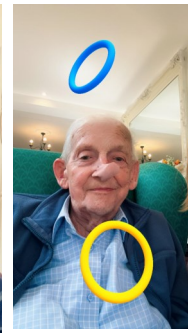

Welcome to July's Newsletter 2024

Edition No. 75

Hello everybody, and welcome to July's edition of our newsletter. This last month, we have enjoyed a number of activities. We have also celebrated some special events such as: Father's Day, the King's official birthday and the anniversary of D-Day with a special performance of D-Day 80. We have arranged another trip out to the carvery for a few of our residents and we will be continuing to take out small intimate groups at a time. While the sun is shining, we will be supporting our residents out and about to enjoy a walk to the park and to the shops.

Here are a few photos from the last month.

They will be your first port of call if you have any questions, but of course, our office is always open for you any time you want to talk to us or ask us anything.

Mealtimes are protected

A polite reminder of our protected times for our residents. All mealtimes are a protected time to enable our residents to feel comfortable to eat during mealtimes. Some residents don't feel comfortable in crowds or may require additional support. It is our aim to protect this time for our residents so they have the best opportunity to relax and enjoy their meal, promoting their nutritional intake and their dignity. So, can we request that visiting takes place around meal times and not during.

Thank you.

Trip to the pub

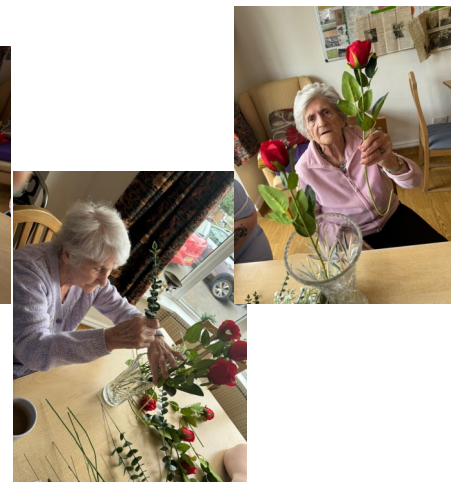

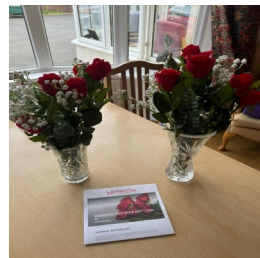

As our trip to Manor Farm was such a success last month, we have arranged to do it again. We will be taking small intimate groups to the pub for lunch. Our next planned visit will be on Wednesday 3rd July. We look forward to spending time out and about!
